KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of a debt instrument may result in profit or loss because the value of a debt instrument changes inversely with prevailing interest rates.

Market/Price Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in the market prices of bonds. It refers to the portfolio's exposure to marked-to-market valuation due to market price fluctuations of the bonds.

Liquidity Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a price that could result in a loss. This may be caused by low trading volume due to different reasons such as securities with small or few outstanding issues, absence of buyers and/or sellers (limited buy/sell activity) or underdeveloped capital market.

Credit Risk / Default Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of fixed income security which the borrower issued. This inability of the borrower or counterparty to make good on its financial obligations may have resulted from adverse changes in its financial condition thus, lowering credit quality of the security, and consequently lowering the price (market/price risk) which contributes to the difficulty in selling such security.

Reinvestment Risk: The possibility of having lower returns or earnings when funds mature and are reinvested. Investors in the UITF who redeem and realize their gains run the risk of reinvesting their funds in an alternative investment outlet with lower yields. Similarly, the UIT fund manager is faced with the risk of not being able to find better yielding alternative investment outlets as some of the securities in the fund matures.

Foreign Exchange Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. The exchange rates depend upon a variety of global and local factors, e.g. interest rates, economic performance, and political developments.

Country Risk: The possibility for an investor to experience losses arising from investments in securities issued by/in foreign countries due to the political, economic and social structures of these countries. There are risks in foreign investments due to the possible internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations and tax increases of the foreign country involved which are difficult to predict but must be taken into account in making such investments.

Other Risks: Your participation in the UITFs may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of in-house or related party transactions by Metrobank. These transactions may include own-bank deposits; purchase of own-institution or affiliate obligations (stocks, mortgages); purchase of assets from or sales to own institution, directors, officers, subsidiaries, affiliates or other related interests/parties; or purchases or sales between fiduciary/managed accounts.

The Fund invests only in high-credit quality assets which are evaluated using a rigorous internal scoring model required under the Trustee's accreditation process and BSP regulations. Internal risk limits and position limits together with regulatory exposure limits are monitored, reviewed and strictly adhered to on a daily basis. The Fund may also use financial derivatives solely for hedging risk exposures.

THE UIT FUND IS NOT A DEPOSIT AND IS NOT INSURED BY THE PHILIPPINE DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (PDIC). RETURNS CANNOT BE GUARANTEED AND HISTORICAL NAVPU IS FOR ILLUSTRATION OF NAVPU MOVEMENTS/FLUCTUATIONS ONLY. WHEN REDEEMING, THE PROCEEDS MAY BE WORTH LESS THAN THE ORIGINAL INVESTMENT AND ANY LOSSES WILL BE SOLELY FOR THE ACCOUNT OF THE CLIENT.

THE TRUSTEE IS NOT LIABLE FOR ANY LOSS UNLESS UPON WILLFUL DEFAULT, BAD FAITH OR GROSS NEGLIGENCE.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Is good news bad news as the "soft landing" or "no landing" narrative unfolds?

Rewinding to earlier this year, there was an expectation in the markets for rate cuts as early as the second half of 2023. This anticipation stemmed from the fastest rate hike in four decades, which was projected to bring down inflation to the Federal Reserve's 2% target and possibly trigger a U.S. economic recession. However, as we find ourselves in the second half of 2023, there's no recession in sight, and economic and business optimism appear to be on the rise despite the high-interest rate environment.

U.S. GDP growth for the second quarter of 2022 was revised lower to 2.1% from 2.4%, although it still indicates an economy in an expansionary phase. Personal consumption continues to be a driving force for the economy, increasing from 1.6% to 1.7%. The services sector shows growth, with a reading of 51, while manufacturing remains in contraction at 47. However, consumer sentiment for the month declined from 71.6 to 69.5 as core components of inflation, food and energy, begin to pick up. Notably, the benchmark oil price, WTI, climbed to USD 84.28, marking a 32% increase from the low of USD 63.9 seen in May. The Federal Reserve's preferred inflation measure, the Core PCE, rose to 4.2% from 4.1% in July, supported by an improving job market. Unemployment decreased to 3.5% from 3.6%, and initial jobless claims also declined to 228k.

At the Jackson Hole Symposium, Fed Chair Jerome Powell indicated that the door remains open for further tightening if necessary. He emphasized the central bank's readiness to raise rates to prevent a resurgence of inflation. Overall, the Fed's stance can be described as "cautiously hawkish," as they have yet to pinpoint the neutral policy rate with certainty. The current Fed Funds Rate stands at 5.5%.

The yield on U.S. 10-year Treasury bonds closed at 4.10%, up by 14 basis points, and reached an intra-month high of 4.33%, the highest level since 2007. Market pricing seemed to embrace the "higher for longer" narrative as yields exceeded the highs of October 2022. The yield movement has formed a "double top" pattern, typically signaling an impending decrease in yields in the short to medium term. Initial support for the U.S. 10-year yield is at 4.0%. The shifting yield dynamics have reduced the inversion of the 2-year and 10-year yields from 92.19 in July to 75.89, with the intra-month low at 66.69. The persistent yield inversion continues to be a leading indicator of a potential recession.

The fund is capitalizing on favorable dollar time deposit rates, with a 180-day yield of 5.0%.
