KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Market/Price Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in the market prices of stocks/equities. It refers to the portfolio's exposure to marked-to-market valuation due to market price fluctuations of the stocks/equities.
Liquidity Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a price that could result in a loss. This may be caused by low trading volume due to different reasons such as securities with small or few outstanding issues, absence of buyers and/or sellers (limited buy/sell activity) or underdeveloped capital market.
Credit Risk / Default Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of fixed income security which the borrower issued. This inability of the borrower or counterparty to make good on its financial obligations may have resulted from adverse changes in its financial condition thus, lowering credit quality of the security, and consequently lowering the price (market/price risk) which contributes to the difficulty in selling such security.
Foreign Exchange Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. The exchange rates depend upon a variety of global and local factors, e.g. interest rates, economic performance, and political developments.
Country Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses arising from investments in securities issued by/in foreign countries due to the political, economic and social structures of these countries. There are risks in foreign investments due to the possible internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations and tax increases of the foreign country involved which are difficult to predict but must be taken into account in making such investments.
Index Tracking Risk:	The possibility for the Fund not being able to achieve a level of return that closely mirrors the index being tracked due to operational and fund management expenses.
Other Risks:	Your participation in the UITFs may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of in-house or related party transactions by Metrobank. These transactions may include own-bank deposits; purchase of own-institution or affiliate obligations (stocks, mortgages); purchase of assets from or sales to own institution, directors, officers, subsidiaries, affiliates or other related interests/parties; or purchases or sales between fiduciary/managed accounts.

The Fund invests only in high-credit quality assets which are evaluated using a rigorous internal scoring model required under the Trustee's accreditation process and BSP regulations. Internal risk limits and position limits together with regulatory exposure limits are monitored, reviewed and strictly adhered to on a daily basis. The Fund may also use financial derivatives solely for hedging risk exposures.

THE UIT FUND IS NOT A DEPOSIT AND IS NOT INSURED BY THE PHILIPPINE DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (PDIC).

RETURNS CANNOT BE GUARANTEED AND HISTORICAL NAVPU IS FOR ILLUSTRATION OF NAVPU MOVEMENTS/FLUCTUATIONS ONLY. WHEN REDEEMING, THE PROCEEDS MAY BE WORTH LESS THAN THE ORIGINAL INVESTMENT AND ANY LOSSES WILL BE SOLELY FOR THE ACCOUNT OF THE CLIENT.

- Other traded money market instruments
- Other USD-denominated Investments allowed under BSP regulations

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

The fund decreased by 4.15% for the month, significantly better than the target fund's decrease of 4.50%. The fund kept cash elevated as the region enters stagflation. The fund will continue to keep cash elevated to service client needs, as momentum in the European region weans. Upside in the region will likely be a laggard to the U.S. and Japan.

In August, the Eurozone's economy continued to grapple with stagflation, with the Q2-2023 GDP expanding by a modest 0.3% quarter-on-quarter, while the Core CPI year-on-year declined slightly to 5.3% from 5.5%. These economic developments have left the European Central Bank (ECB) in a position where it must carefully consider its future policy rate decisions, striking a balance between sustaining growth and managing inflation.

Although inflation has shown notable improvement compared to the alarming 10.6% year-on-year reading observed in October 2022, underlying inflation remains stubborn, largely due to the robust state of the labor market within the Eurozone. Unemployment has remained unchanged month-on-month but continues at a record-low level of 6.4% as of July. Near-term inflationary concerns may arise from the increasing energy prices, with WTI, the U.S. oil benchmark, surging to USD 84.28, marking a 32% increase from its May low. Additionally, as the winter season approaches the region, it could further contribute to the already rising energy costs.

The Purchasing Managers Index for manufacturing showed a slight improvement, rising to 43.7 in July from 42.7 the previous month, but it still remains well below the 50-point threshold, indicating a contraction in activity. Conversely, the services sector entered into contraction territory during the month, declining from 50.9 to 48.3. The Eurozone seems to be feeling the repercussions of rate hikes on economic activity, as both manufacturing and services indicators have fallen into contraction.

The Eurozone's previous sense of stability and momentum waned as global markets turned risk-averse following a more hawkish Federal Reserve, ushering in the gradual realization of the "higher for longer" narrative. The DXY Index (dollar index) surged from 101.855 to 103.619, and bond yields reached their highest levels since 2007. In the coming months, one can expect weakness in both the Eurozone's equity market and the broader economy as stagflation continues to pose challenges.
