KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

Interest Rate Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of a debt instrument may result in profit or loss because the value of a debt instrument changes inversely with prevailing interest rates.
Market/Price Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in the market prices of bonds. It refers to the portfolio's exposure to marked-to-market valuation due to market price fluctuations of the bonds.
Liquidity Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a price that could result in a loss. This may be caused by low trading volume due to different reasons such as securities with small or few outstanding issues, absence of buyers and/or sellers (limited buy/sell activity) or underdeveloped capital market.
Credit Risk / Default Risk:	The possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of fixed income security which the borrower issued. This inability of the borrower or counterparty to make good on its financial obligations may have resulted from adverse changes in its financial condition thus, lowering credit quality of the security, and consequently lowering the price (market/price risk) which contributes to the difficulty in selling such security.
Reinvestment Risk:	The possibility of having lower returns or earnings when funds mature and are reinvested. Investors in the UITF who redeem and realize their gains run the risk of reinvesting their funds in an alternative investment outlet with lower yields. Similarly, the UIT fund manager is faced with the risk of not being able to find better yielding alternative investment outlets as some of the securities in the fund matures.
Other Risks:	Your participation in the UITFs may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of in-house or related party transactions by Metrobank. These transactions may include own-bank deposits; purchase of own-institution or affiliate obligations (stocks, mortgages); purchase of assets from or sales to own institution, directors, officers, subsidiaries, affiliates or other related interests/parties; or purchases or sales between fiduciary/managed accounts.

The Fund invests only in assets which are evaluated using a rigorous internal scoring model required under the Trustee's accreditation process and BSP regulations. Internal risk limits and position limits together with regulatory exposure limits are monitored, reviewed and strictly adhered to on a daily basis. The Fund may also use financial derivatives solely for hedging risk exposures.

THE UIT FUND IS NOT A DEPOSIT AND IS NOT INSURED BY THE PHILIPPINE DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (PDIC).

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Bond Yields Rise Sharply Amid Inflation Concerns and Risk-Off Sentiment

Peso fixed income markets posted a weak performance in May 2026 as inflation concerns, persistent geopolitical risks, and expectations of additional monetary tightening pushed government bond yields significantly higher. Investor sentiment remained cautious throughout most of the month following the release of stronger-than-expected inflation data and continued uncertainty surrounding the US-Iran conflict, prompting market participants to reduce duration exposure and demand higher yields across Treasury bond auctions.

Global market developments remained a key driver of sentiment. Elevated oil prices stemming from ongoing tensions in the Middle East contributed to renewed concerns over inflation and reinforced expectations that major central banks may need to keep interest rates higher for longer. In the United States, inflation indicators remained firm while Federal Reserve officials continued to emphasize vigilance against persistent price pressures. Although reports of possible peace negotiations between the US and Iran emerged toward month-end and helped improve market sentiment, investors largely remained cautious given the uncertain geopolitical backdrop.

Locally, the fixed income market continued to digest the impact of April's 7.2% inflation print that came out during the first week of May, which came in significantly above expectations and strengthened expectations for additional BSP policy tightening. At the same time, first-quarter economic growth slowed to 2.8%, reflecting softer domestic demand conditions. The Philippine Peso depreciated further during the month, reaching new record lows closing in at 61.75 last May 18 against the US Dollar and adding to inflation concerns. Inflation however eased to 6.8% in May from 7.2% previously, coming in below both market expectations and the BSP's forecast range as price pressures moderated across transport, food, and utility-related components. Nevertheless, core inflation accelerated further to 4.1% from 3.9%, signaling that underlying inflationary pressures remain persistent despite the improvement in headline inflation. These developments kept expectations of further BSP tightening intact, with markets continuing to anticipate another 25-basis-point policy rate increase in June.

Auction results during the month reflected this cautious environment. The 5-year Treasury bond auction registered its weakest demand in over a decade, while the Bureau of Treasury (BTr) rejected all bids for the 7-year bond offering after market participants demanded significantly higher yields. Had the auction been fully awarded, yields would have ranged from 7.625% to 8.125%, with an average of 7.915%. Demand improved modestly toward the end of May following signs of potential progress in geopolitical negotiations, allowing the Treasury to successfully award both 4-year and 10-year securities. The fund remain invested in high-yielding time deposits, same or better than BSP yields
